

Finding America With My Fork: A Memoir of Food, Identity, and Culture

In her inspiring memoir, Finding America With My Fork, Jenny Zhang shares her personal journey of finding her place in America through food.

Jenny was born in China and immigrated to the United States with her family when she was a child. As she grew up, she struggled to fit in and often felt like an outsider. But through food, she began to find her own unique identity and connection to her new country.

Zhang's memoir is a moving and often funny account of her experiences as a first-generation Chinese-American. She writes about the challenges and rewards of growing up in two cultures, the different ways that food can be used to express identity and culture, and the power of food to bring people together.

Finding America With My Fork is a must-read for anyone who has ever felt like an outsider, anyone who loves food, and anyone who is interested in the American immigrant experience.

What people are saying about Finding America With My Fork:

- "A powerful and moving memoir about finding one's place in the world through food. Zhang's writing is honest, insightful, and often laugh-out-loud funny."

- "A must-read for anyone who loves food, culture, and the American immigrant experience. Zhang's memoir is a reminder that food has the power to bring us together and help us understand each other better."
- "A beautifully written and deeply personal memoir that will stay with me long after I finish reading it. Zhang's story is a reminder that we are all immigrants in one way or another, and that food can be a powerful way to connect with our roots and find our place in the world."
